

I, Jacob Fetman, do hereby pledge never to speak about any relevant financial matters of Aish NY, Aish International or Project Inspire – whether past or present – to anyone in the private or public sector, no matter what the outcome of the current dispute turns out to be.

This assurance is given in exchange for the agreement of all parties to allow Mr. Mel Zachter to conduct a private discovery process of the allegations made against me, and to recommend a fair and unbiased resolution after the process is complete.

In addition, Aish NY and all its affiliates, including but not limited to Aish International, Aish Jerusalem, Aish LA, Aish Toronto, Aish UK, Project Inspire and all their employees, Board Members and related parties past and present, will not discuss or relay any details of findings of this investigation.

Once a final decision is reached by Mr. Zachter, an email will go out to Aish NY board, CC'd to Mr. Shechtel and me of the findings.

At this point, Rabbi Cohen will modify his award and give this modified psak to Mr. Zachter alone to hold pending Mr. Zachter's final decision. The modified psak will retract the $20,000,000 awarded to Aish NY and allow Mr. Zachter the power to decide the case based on the facts, investigations and interviews with the parties, including the affiliated entities. The court process will be immediately frozen and once a final decision and settlement reached, the case is to be retracted.

If at any time I am approached by the media, or any legal authorities – this agreement is null and void.

I am enclosing an affidavit that was presented to judge Demarest this week relaying many of my allegations about the improprieties of this litigation. I have not filed it electronically, only via hand delivery of documents so that its not available to the public. I have held back many other details that can prove my case because I felt it to be too much. When the case is frozen and or retracted these files will be sealed.

In addition, I will ask the board of directors of Merkaz the Center, which brought a separate lawsuit against Aish to freeze their case as well pending final resolution.

Lastly, any financial award will not include legal fees claims on either side. I am told that at this point Aish spent over $500K on litigation. I owe over $220K to my attorneys. Such award may not include repayment of my salary for the past 17 years.

I fully entrust this case with Mr. Zachter, and will abide by his decision.
